

John T. Cervini

Mr. Cervini is a Lifetime member of InfoAge and a member of the Board of Trustees. He is also a charter member of the Camp Evans Restoration Advisory Board of Wall Township. He currently consults for a number of companies that support the Department of Defense.

Mr. Cervini retired from Government service in 2002 after serving 30 years as an engineer, scientist, and technical manager at the Army's Communications and Electronics Command at Fort Monmouth. During that time, he held a number of management positions at the Division and Branch level within the CECOM R&D organization. He chaired a number of sessions at technical symposia, and presented innumerable briefings both nationally and internationally throughout his career. He served 4½ years in the U.S. Air Force at the Phillips Laboratory, Kirtland AFB, NM as a Nuclear Research Officer. He received a B.S. and M.S. in Physics from Fordham University and the University of New Mexico, respectively.

Cervini is a member of the Association of Old Crows (AOC), the Electronic Warfare professional organization; and is currently a Director in the Garden State Chapter.
